Applied Design, skills, and technology	Students will be using technology daily at St. Helen's school. The class will participate in computer lessons in the school lab, as well as have access to the classroom iPads, laptops, and desktops that are readily available in the classroom. Students will learn that: designs can be improved with prototyping and testing, skills are developed through practice, effort, and action, and the choice of technology and tools depends on the task at hand.
French	Students will be participating in the Rosetta Stone Program which involves vocabulary recognition, French pronunciation, writing activities, and educational games. The students progress is monitored through mini-assessments that are completed at their own learning pace.
